

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
BOARD FOR CORRECTION OF NAVAL RECORDS
701 S. COURTHOUSE ROAD, SUITE 1001
ARLINGTON, VA 22204-2490

TAL
Docket No: 4365-11
15 February 2012

[REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of title 10 of the United States Code, section 1552.

A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 8 February 2012. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record, and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

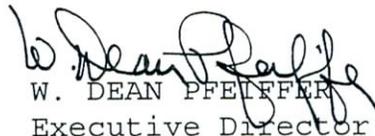

You enlisted in the Navy and began a period of active duty on 20 July 2006 at age 19. On 7 August 2006, you were the subject of a mental health evaluation where you were diagnosed with a separation anxiety disorder that existed prior to entry. It was stated in part, that you were seriously depressed and missed you family. You were experiencing sadness, hopelessness, anxiety, social isolation, cried without good reason, had serious sleep difficulties and concentration problems. You were notified of the recommendation that you be discharged by reason of erroneous entry. On 11 August 2006, your commanding officer directed an uncharacterized entry level separation and you were so discharged. At that time you were assigned an RE-4 reentry code, which means that you were neither recommended nor eligible for reenlistment.

The Board, in its review of your application, carefully weighed all potentially mitigating factors, such as your youth, and overall record of service. Nevertheless, the Board concluded these factors were not sufficient to warrant a change in the reentry code, which was based on your erroneous entry and failure to complete recruit training. Accordingly, your application has been denied. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request.

Each branch of the armed forces establishes its own criteria for enlistment within the provisions of federal law. The reentry code assigned by the Navy is not binding upon the other services, which are free to accept or reject an application on the basis of their own standards. If another branch of service decides to waive your reentry code and accept you for enlistment, the Navy will not object.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence or other matter not previously considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

W. DEAN PFEIFFER
Executive Director
