Docket No: 1043-13

15 May 2014

[REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of title 10 of the United States Code section 1552.

A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 14 May 2014. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record and applicable statutes, regulations and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found that the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

The Board found that you enlisted in the Navy on 28 May 2008 for a term of four years. After slightly more than nine months of active duty, you were separated with a general discharge on 12 March 2009, by reason of a condition, not a disability, which interfered with your performance of duty. You were assigned a reentry code of RE-4, as permitted by governing directives.

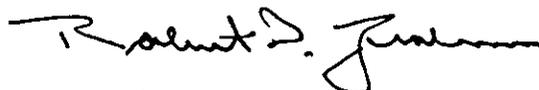

On 15 July 2012 the Naval Discharge Review Board upgraded your general discharge to an honorable discharge.

The Board carefully considered your desire to have your reentry code changed but it was not persuaded that the code was assigned in error, or that its continued presence in your record is unjust. It noted that a Sailor may receive a reentry code of RE-4 even though she did not receive nonjudicial punishment and was not convicted by court-martial. An RE-4 reentry code is a non-recommendation for retention based on your medical condition (adjustment disorder with depressed mood). Accordingly, your application has been denied. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence or other matter not previously considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,
