Docket No: 1908-13

14 May 2014

[REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of title 10 of the United States Code section 1552.

A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 6 November 2013. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record and applicable statutes, regulations and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found that the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

The Board found that you enlisted in the Navy on 2 March 1999. On 5 October 1999 you were an unauthorized absentee until your return on 15 October 1999. Your last enlisted evaluation for the period 16 July to 1 November 1999 showed that you were not recommended for retention. On 1 November 1999 you were released from active duty under honorable conditions by reason of pregnancy or childbirth, and assigned an RE-4 (not recommended for retention) reentry code.

The Board carefully considered your desire to continue your career in the Navy; however, it was not persuaded that your RE-4 reentry code was assigned in error, or that its continued presence in your record is unjust due to your misconduct and non-recommendation for retention. Accordingly, your application has been denied. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence or other matter not previously considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,
