

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
BOARD FOR CORRECTION OF NAVAL RECORDS
701 S. COURTHOUSE ROAD, SUITE 1001
ARLINGTON, VA 22204-2490

EGA
Docket No: 1206-14
24 March 2015

[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of Title 10, United States Code, Section 1552.

A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 23 February 2015. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record, and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

You enlisted in the Navy and began a period of active duty on 24 July 2012. Shortly after arriving for recruit training, you reported previously withheld medical information to your chain of command and were referred for evaluation. On 26 July 2012, you were diagnosed with a generalized anxiety disorder and panic disorder with agoraphobia. A review of your medical prescreening documents revealed no record of you reporting treatment for a mental condition, and you were recommended for separation due to erroneous entry into military service. On 7 August 2012, you were discharged with an uncharacterized entry level separation by reason of erroneous entry into military service, and assigned an RE-3E reentry code. Since you enlisted in error, you were assigned the most appropriate reenlistment code based on your circumstances.

The Board, in its review of your entire record and application, carefully weighed all potentially mitigating factors, such as your desire to upgrade your reentry code, statement regarding your decision to withhold personal information, and the letter from your clinical social worker. Nevertheless, the Board concluded these factors were not sufficient to warrant relief in your case because a medical condition existed prior to joining the service and you withheld this information during the medical prescreening. Finally, Sailors discharged by reason of erroneous entry would normally be assigned reenlistment code RE-3E, which is a bar to reenlistment. Again, you were assigned the most appropriate reenlistment code for your situation. Accordingly, your application has been denied.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence or other matter not previously considered by the Board within one year from the date of the Board's decision. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,
