

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
BOARD FOR CORRECTION OF NAVAL RECORDS
701 S. COURTHOUSE ROAD, SUITE 1001
ARLINGTON, VA 22204-2490

SJN

Docket No: 5128-14

22 January 2015

Dear [REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of title 10 of the United States Code, section 1552.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 6 January 2015. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record, and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies.

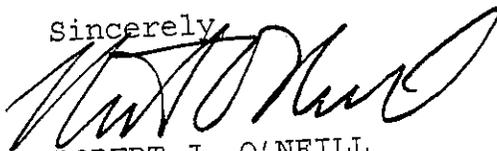

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

You enlisted in the Navy and began a period of active duty on 3 February 1969. On 13 November 1969, you received nonjudicial punishment (NJP) for unauthorized absence (UA). On 24 November 1970, you were convicted by special court-martial (SPCM) of two specifications of UA totaling 275 days. You received a forfeiture of pay, confinement, and a bad conduct discharge (BCD). On 25 January 1971, you waived your right to request restoration to full duty, and received the BCD on 8 May 1998 after appellate review was completed.

The Board, in its review of your entire record and application, carefully weighed all potentially mitigating factors, such as your record of service and desire to upgrade your discharge. It also considered your assertion that your in-service diagnosed emotional immature personality disorder had not been considered during your court martial conviction. Nevertheless, the Board concluded these factors were not sufficient to warrant recharacterization of your discharge given your NJP and SPCM conviction. Regarding your assertion, the Board noted that the severity of your misconduct outweighed the mitigations of your diagnosed personality disorder. Accordingly, your application has been denied.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence within one year from the date of the Board's decision. New evidence is evidence not previously considered by the Board prior to making its decision in your case. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

ROBERT J. O'NEILL
Executive Director
