Dear [REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of title 10 of the United States Code, section 1552.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 10 June 2015. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record, and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

You enlisted in the Marine Corps and began a period of active duty on 21 April 1997. On 14 November 2002, you received nonjudicial punishment (NJP) for absence from your appointed place of duty, failure to obey an order or regulation and misbehavior as a sentinel or lookout. On 22 September 2004, you were convicted by special court-martial (SPCM) of failure to obey order or regulation on two occasions and adultery.

You remained on active duty until you were honorably discharged upon completion of your required active service on 2 June 2005. At that time you were assigned an RE-4 reentry code.

The Board, in its review of your record and application, carefully weighed all potentially mitigating factors, such as your record of service and desire to change your reentry code. Nevertheless, the Board concluded these factors were not sufficient to warrant a change in the reentry code. In this regard, an RE-4 reentry code is authorized when a Marine is separated at the expiration of their term of active obligated service and is not recommended for retention. Accordingly, your application has been denied.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence within one year from the date of the Board's decision. New evidence is evidence not previously considered by the Board prior to making its decision in your case. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,
