Dear █

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to Title 10, United States Code, Section 1552. After careful and conscientious consideration of relevant portions of your naval record and your application, the Board for Correction of Naval Records (Board) found the evidence submitted insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice. Consequently, your application has been denied.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 2 April 2021. The names and votes of the panel members will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of the Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application together with all material submitted in support thereof, relevant portions of your naval record, applicable statutes, regulations, and policies, to include the 25 July 2018 guidance from the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness regarding equity, injustice or clemency determinations (Wilkie Memo).

You enlisted in the Navy and began a period of active duty on 28 September 1987. On 16 March 1988, you began a period of unauthorized absence (UA) which lasted eighty-six days. On 18 June 1988, you received nonjudicial punishment (NJP) for UA. On the same date, you were counseled for misconduct, and you were notified further deficiencies may result in the initiation of administrative separation proceedings. On 31 January 1989, you acknowledged the derogatory entries on your enlisted evaluation report and declined to make a statement. On 23 March 1989, you received a second NJP for failure to report, disobeying a petty officer, and failure to obey a lawful general regulation. On 17 May 1989, you received a third NJP for disobeying a petty officer and failing to pay a debt. On 18 May 1989, your commanding officer (CO) recommended your discharge with an other than honorable (OTH) characterization of service, at which point, you decided to waive your procedural rights. On 23 June 1989, the discharge approval authority ordered an OTH discharge by reason of misconduct and misconduct due to a commission of a serious offense. You were discharged on 26 June 1989.

The Board carefully considered all potentially mitigating factors to determine whether the interests of justice warrant relief in your case in accordance with the Wilkie Memo. These included, but were not limited to, your contention that you were young and your officers refused to train you further. Based upon this review, the Board concluded these potentially mitigating factors were insufficient to warrant relief. Specifically, the Board determined that your repeated misconduct, as evidenced by your NJPs, outweighed these mitigating factors. The Board noted you did not submit any documentation or advocacy letters to be considered. Accordingly, given the totality of the circumstances, the Board determined that your request does not merit relief.

You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon the submission of new matters, which will require you to complete and submit a new DD Form 149. New matters are those not previously presented to or considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

4/20/2021
