BOARD FOR CORRECTION OF NAVAL RECORDS 701 S. COURTHOUSE ROAD, SUITE 1001 ARLINGTON, VA 22204-2490

> Docket No. 29-22 Ref: Signature Date

Dear :

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to Section 1552 of Title 10, United States Code. After careful and conscientious consideration of relevant portions of your naval record and your application, the Board for Correction of Naval Records (Board) found the evidence submitted insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice. Consequently, your application has been denied.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 17 March 2022. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, relevant portions of your naval record and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies.

The Board determined that a personal appearance with or without counsel would not materially add to their understanding of the issues involved. Therefore, the Board determined that a personal appearance was not necessary and considered your case based on the evidence of record.

A review of your records shows that you enlisted in the Marine Corps and commenced a period of active duty on 8 August 1967. From 6 March 1969 to 7 November 1969, you served in the where you participated in four named combat operations. While you were in Vietnam, you suffered an injury to your right hand as a result of enemy action, and you were awarded the Purple Heart Medal. On 6 August 1971, you were honorably released from active duty.

In your petition, you request that your honorable discharge be changed to a medical discharge or retirement. In support of your petition, you contend that years after your discharge you learned that you had a traumatic brain injury due to your service in Vietnam and that the Navy Medical Center in Danang never x-rayed your head or neck. The Board carefully considered your contentions and reviewed the materials that you provided, including materials from the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), and it did not agree with your rationale for relief.

In order to qualify for military disability benefits through the Disability Evaluation System with a finding of unfitness, a service member must be unable to perform the duties of their office, grade, rank or rating as a result of a qualifying disability condition. Alternatively, a member may be found unfit if their disability represents a decided medical risk to the health or the member or to the welfare or safety of other members; the member's disability imposes unreasonable requirements on the military to maintain or protect the member; or the member possesses two or more disability conditions which have an overall effect of causing unfitness even though, standing alone, are not separately unfitting. In reviewing your record, the Board concluded the preponderance of the evidence does not support a finding that you met any of the criteria for unfitness at the time of your discharge from the Navy. The Board noted that there was no evidence of any findings of unfitness based on your inability to perform your duties while you were on active duty. Rather, you completed your enlistment and you were released from active duty. With respect to any later findings by the VA granting service connected disabilities, the Board noted that eligibility for compensation and pension disability ratings by the VA is tied to the establishment of service connection and is manifestation-based without a requirement that unfitness for military duty be demonstrated. Accordingly, the Board found insufficient evidence of error or injustice to warrant a change to your record.

You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new matters, which will require you to complete and submit a new DD Form 149. New matters are those not previously presented to or considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.
