

The Board concurred with the AO that there was insufficient evidence to show that the evaluation was improper. The Board noted that your evaluation ended on 24 May 2020 and you received the ESWS qualification on 22 June 2020. Therefore, absent evidence that the prescribed time for you to receive the qualification was after 24 May 2020, the Board determined the evaluation was properly issued to document your failure to attain the qualification on time. The Board further noted that you did not provide any evidence that you were not informed of the adverse evaluation and they found no error with the fact it was issued after your detachment from the command. Consequently, the Board concurred with the AO that there is no material error or injustice with the evaluation. Accordingly, given the totality of the circumstances, the Board determined that your request does not merit relief.

You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new matters, which will require you to complete and submit a new DD Form 149. New matters are those not previously presented to or considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,
