Dear Petitioner:

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to Section 1552 of Title 10, United States Code. After careful and conscientious consideration of relevant portions of your naval record and your application, the Board for Correction of Naval Records (Board) found the evidence submitted insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice. Consequently, your application has been denied.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 31 January 2024. The names and votes of the panel members will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of the Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application together with all material submitted in support thereof, relevant portions of your naval record, and applicable statutes, regulations, and policies, to include the 25 July 2018 guidance from the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness regarding equity, injustice or clemency determinations (Wilkie Memo).

You enlisted in the U.S. Navy and began a period of active duty on 16 December 2002. On 30 December 2002, a report of mental health examination was completed. In the examination, you were diagnosed with a preexisting personality disorder based on a history of behaviors that included incidents of self-harm. As a result, the Commanding Officer (CO) notified you for separation for defective enlistment and induction due to erroneous enlistment. You were discharged, on 10 January 2003, with an uncharacterized entry-level characterization of service and assigned an RE-4 reentry code.

The Board carefully considered all potentially mitigating factors to determine whether the interests of justice warrant relief in your case in accordance with the Wilkie Memo. These included, but were not limited to, your desire to change your reentry code and contention that you were erroneously separated without being given sufficient time to prove that you were physically and mentally fit for the Navy. For purposes of clemency and equity consideration, the Board noted you did not provide supporting documentation describing post-service accomplishments or advocacy letters.

After thorough review, the Board concluded these potentially mitigating factors were insufficient to warrant relief. Specifically, the Board determined your assigned reentry code of RE-4 remains appropriate. In reviewing your record, the Board found no evidence you were erroneously or unjustly separated based on your diagnosed personality disorder. Further, the Board considered it was well within your Commanding Officer's discretion to assign you an RE-4 reentry code based on your personality disorder diagnosis and evidence of unsuitability for further military service. Finally, the Board was not persuaded by your contentions that you were not given sufficient time to prove that you were physically and mentally fit to serve. The medical records document you had a history of self-harm and other dangerous behavior that was not suitable for military service and, therefore, disqualifying for future service in the military. Therefore, even in light of the Wilkie Memo and reviewing the record holistically, the Board did not find evidence of an error or injustice that warrants granting you the relief you requested or granting relief as a matter of clemency or equity. Accordingly, given the totality of the circumstances, the Board determined that your request does not merit relief.

You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new matters, which will require you to complete and submit a new DD Form 149. New matters are those not previously presented to or considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

2/12/2024
