Dear Petitioner:

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to Title 10, United States Code, Section 1552. After careful and conscientious consideration of relevant portions of your naval record and your application, the Board for Correction of Naval Records (Board) found the evidence submitted insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice. Consequently, your application has been denied.

Although your application was not filed in a timely manner, the Board found it in the interest of justice to waive the statute of limitations and consider your application on its merits. A three-member panel of the Board, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 15 July 2024. The names and votes of the panel members will be furnished upon request. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of the Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application together with all material submitted in support thereof, relevant portions of your naval record, applicable statutes, regulations, and policies, to include the 25 July 2018 guidance from the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness regarding equity, injustice or clemency determinations (Wilkie Memo).

You enlisted in the Navy and began a period of active duty on 20 September 1982. On 17 September 1986, you were honorably discharged by reason of expiration of enlistment and immediately reenlisted.

On 4 February 1990, you completed the Department of the Navy Certificate Dependents Care Certificate, at which point, you declared to be unable to comply with the certificate listed requirements. Consequently, you were notified of the initiation of administrative separation proceedings by reason of parenthood. On the same date, you decided to waive your procedural rights. Subsequently, your commanding officer recommended a General (Under Honorable Conditions) discharge characterization of service by reason of parenthood. On 11 February 1991, you were so discharged.

The Board carefully considered all potentially mitigating factors to determine whether the interests of justice warrant relief in your case in accordance with the Wilkie Memo. These included, but were not limited to, your contention that you got divorced while on active duty and had no family members that could take care of your minor son. For purposes of clemency and equity consideration, the Board noted you did not provide supporting documentation describing post-service accomplishments or advocacy letters.

After thorough review, the Board concluded these potentially mitigating factors were insufficient to warrant relief. Specifically, the Board noted you were appropriately assigned a General (Under Honorable Conditions) (GEN) discharge characterization based on your refusal to comply with the requirement listed on your Dependents Care Certificate. The Board determined it was within the Commanding Officer's discretion to assign you a GEN characterization of service based on his determination that significant negative aspects of your second enlistment outweighed the positive aspects.

Therefore, even in light of the Wilkie Memo and reviewing the record holistically, the Board did not find evidence of an error or injustice that warrants granting you the relief you requested or granting relief as a matter of clemency or equity. Accordingly, given the totality of the circumstances, the Board determined that your request does not merit relief.

You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon the submission of new matters, which will require you to complete and submit a new DD Form 149. New matters are those not previously presented to or considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records. Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

8/1/2024
